Description:

Pale malt is the basis of all British ales. Several varieties of barley are used with Maris Otter being the most highly prized, although Halcyon, Optic and the newcomer, Pearl, are also excellent malting barleys. Also available exclusively from Brupaks is the legendary Golden Promise, which has its own unique character. Experimentation is strongly advised, as the subtle differences between pale malts are difficult to put into words. British pale malt is kilned very dry at temperatures between 95C and 105C.
